"UNPLANNED" (Not in Canada)

When the movie "Hotel Rwanda" came out in theaters in 2004, I didn't go see it. I had heard that it was difficult to see the results of the slaughter of thousands upon thousands of Tutsi people by the Hutu in that African country.

Eventually, I decided to rent the movie well after it became available on DVD. I did not expect it to be any less disturbing, but I figured that I SHOULD see the movie, because the slaughter of these people and the way the world ignored their plight for so long.

I would never say I enjoyed watching "Hotel Rwanda," but it was an important movie to see.

This week, I saw another movie that I did not want to see but is important to see.

"Unplanned" tells the story of Abby Johnson, who rose quickly through the ranks of Planned Parenthood, becoming one of the youngest clinic directors in the organization. One fateful day, she assists with an ultrasound-guided abortion of a 13-week-old fetus. And that changed everything for her.

Johnson quit Planned Parenthood and became a pro-life advocate herself. She eventually founded And Then There Were None, which claims to be the only ministry in the country that helps abortion workers leave the industry and find new jobs. Close to 500 people, including doctors, have chosen a new walk of life through Johnson's organization. (www.archbalt.org, cited from an article by CHRISTOPHER GUNTY)

Canadian movie distributors have banned the movie Unplanned from screening in theatres, reports the movie's producers. "We have been effectively blocked from distributing the film in Canada," said producer Lisa Wheeler at an Ottawa news conference May 8.

ONE HEART-ONE SOUL- IN FULL SWING

Are Parishes in a position to take on needed projects?

This, of course, varies from Parish to Parish, but in general most Parishes are not in a strong position to take on major projects (those of $250,000 or more), and many projects have been delayed because of a lack of funding. One of the main reasons for the diocesan capital campaign is to assist Parishes big and small to gain more solid footing for the future – whether that's by completing an overdue project, retiring debt, building a contingency fund or looking ahead with a new ministry or new staff.

Jean Vanier of his life in l'Arche ...

"I met people - people who formed my growth, people with disabilities who loved me and awoke my heart."

"At the basis is trust. I never asked to be born into the Vanier family. I did not ask to be a boy and not a girl. I did not choose my genes. Where and when during my life did I make free choices? I do not know. I feel I have been carried along - held and upheld by a gentle wind. Is it the wind of the Holy Spirit? Let it be, let it be.

"This is life. We are not pure or impure spirits, floating on clouds of acclaim. We are flesh, grounded and rooted in the earth. We need sleep and rest, work, good food with friends and lots of pleasure. We need disappointments, because they foster hope and renewal. Of course, we muse over death."

"It is not an accident that we die. We enter the world in the fragility of a baby and later decline into the fragility of the old person we will become. Fragility means needing to cry out, "I need your help, I need your love, I need you." Fragility forms bonds of togetherness, community, friendship and peace."

"For me, no regrets, for all that is and has been. Today I want just to live in the present and the presence, to God and to other people. May I let regrets fly away, and let the present moment unfold in hope. Your letter, Ian, is about gently receiving and giving life - your holding Walker as he lives through a seizure. Even as our correspondence, as it is, stops, we can continue to help each other to become more human."
